COUNCIL LETS OIL CONTRACT

Indiana Road Preserving Company,
Represented by Walter Rhineheimer, Offers Only Bid.

MAY START WORK IN A WEEK

Contract Calls For 5.1 Cents a Lineal Foot, Which is $800 and $900 Below Estimate.

Only one bid for the oiling of the streets was received by the city council at the special session last night and it was accepted. The bid was from the Indiana Road Preserving company, represented before the council by Walter Rhineheimer. The bid was 3.8 cents a square yard which figures out about 5.1 cents a lineal foot for thirty foot streets.

The bid was considered very reasonable and the mayor and clerk were instructed to enter into a contract with Mr. Rhineheimer. The bond of the contractor was placed at $3,000 and he will begin work as soon as possible. Mr. Rhineheimer told the council that he would probably be ready to start the oiling within a week.

The contract price of 5.1 cents a lineal foot for one side is lower than the bids received last year. The city engineer in the plans and specifications estimated the total cost of oiling at $7,500. The one bid received is $800 or $900 lower than the estimate. The plans call for less oil this year than last, but they also specify that two applications shall be made.

The oil will be placed three feet from the curb on either side of the streets thus making a thirty foot street twenty-four feet when it is figured in the final assessment. One side of the street will be oiled at a time and in this manner it will not be necessary to close the entire street. The company receiving the contract is composed of Mr. Rhineheimer and Albert Capp.

Mayor Bebout appointed a park committee last night. The committee is composed of Councilmen Sexton, Wagoner and Seudder. The council plans to have the grass cut and the park in better condition.

Rushville, Most Beautiful City Can Still Use Improvements

The following was issued from the Chamber of Commerce headquarters today:

Rushville is the most beautiful city in Indiana. We all know that; and if we didn't, we should soon find it out, for every stranger who stops here says so before he leaves, and carries the word with him. Many a time has the writer been told in many strange places, by persons who have been here, that Rushville is the most beautiful city they had ever seen. We like to feel that way, and we boast of it. Our residences, our court house, our shade trees, our lawns, our streets, are all beautiful. Can they be more beautiful?

They can. Some flowers on the court house lawn, and out at the park would help. Why not let some of our women's organizations have some flowers put there? That is one way. Here is another. Each business house down town could set two or three tubs of flowers out on the edge of the sidewalk. Barrels sawed in two would do well. Rushville has some first class green-houses. Such flowers, and even the

HAS BIG PROBLEM TO SOLVE

Noah Tryon Will Try to Locate Show With 300 People at Fair.

Noah Tryon, superintendent of concessions for the coming annual Rush county fair, which will be held this year the week of August 24, has a big problem to solve. A show carrying three hundred people wants ground space for the fair and Mr. Tryon is trying to figure out some way to locate the tent. He fears that he will be unable to find a space large enough. The show is carried on sixteen fifty-foot ears.

BIG FOUR WILL GIVE LOCAL GATES TRIAL

Requisition is Put in by Railroad For Some of Product of National Gate Company Here.

OFFICIALS INSPECT PLANT

Three officials of the Big Four were here yesterday and inspected the National Gate company, a Rush county organization which recently erected a new building at the intersection of the Big Four, L. E. & W. and C. H. & D. railroads. They were P. J. Hays, superintendent; E. L. Roederer, division freight agent, and H. L. Frost, traveling freight agent.

Through the efforts of E. C. McMahon, Big Four agent here, the Big Four company has put in a requisition for some gates by the National Gate company and will give them a trial. This is quite a boost for the Rushville concern. The question of obtaining a requisition had to go before the engineer of the company and called for his inspection of models of the gates made here.

Mr. McMahon worked hard to get a location for the company before it obtained its present site. He had arranged for Big Four property at the intersection of the Big Four and Seventh street to be used by the company, but the agreement was not put through until the day the company purchased the ground on which it built the building it is now using.

TAGGARTISM IN THE LOCAL FIGHT

"Wets" and "Drys" Also Said to Have Important Bearing in Warfare Among Democrats Here.

TO NAME TICKET SATURDAY

Cary Jackson Will Have to Bear Brunt of Ring Attack—Efforts to Get One Candidate.

Among the pre-convention stories that are going the rounds is one that Taggartism is forcing its way into local Democratic politics. The county convention of the party will be held at the coliseum Saturday and today there were all sorts of stories that factionalism had been injected into the fight on certain candidates. It is also said that the "wet" and "dry" issue has an important bearing on some of the contests.

From observations and reports that are gaining credence, Cary Jackson of this city, former Rush county representative and joint-senator from Rush, Fayette and Hancock counties, candidate for the nomination for county treasurer, will have to bear the brunt of the attack of the machine. Oliver Cook, of Richland township, is his opponent.

It is common knowledge that the Taggart Democrats, of which there are many in the inner circles of local Democracy, are fixing up a slate for the county ticket and will use every available method to put it across. On the other hand, the anti-Taggart men are not standing idly by and are at work among the delegates to offset the effect of the activity of the Taggart men.

Of course the Taggart element in the party and the "wet" element is the same crowd. This is said to be one of the reasons why the Taggart men are after the scalp of Cary Jackson because he has been an influential "dry" worker.

It was noted that the Democrats were late in bringing out a candidate for the nomination for representative. Night before last Bert Benner, cashier of the Mays bank, threw his hat into the ring after efforts had been made to get Will Inlow of Manilla into the race.

Inlow was wanted, it is reported, to offset the inroads that W. R. Jinnett of Manilla is expected to make in the Democratic stronghold, Walker township. But he is said to have refused absolutely to consent to allow his name to go before the convention. Inlow is said to be an ardent "dry" man.

J. Milt. Stiers wanted the nomination for representative the worst kind, it is said, but the leaders are said to have told him that he wouldn't do. It is also common report that O. C. Norris, Rush county's representative in the last Indiana legislature, wanted to repeat, but that the ring leaders feared that he could not come back after having served a term in the lower house.

CHOIR LEADER IN COURT.

(By United Press.)

Chicago, June 5.—Homer Rodehever of Warsaw, Ind., choir leader for Evangelist Billy Sunday seceded and paced the court room nervously today when attorneys condemned him for alleged breach of promise to marry Miss Georgia Jay. It was the closing argument in the $50,000 suit.

Mr. and Mrs. William Emsweller are preparing to move to a farm near Andersonville where they will spend the summer.

TAYLOR FREED ON ONE CHARGE

One Affidavit Against Young Man Who Caused Trouble Under Smallpox Quarantine Unsigned.

DISMISSAL ASKED IN OTHER

Case of Farmers Trust Company Against Jackson Township Board of Finance Will be Tried.

Judge Megee this morning in the circuit court sustained a motion to dismiss one of the cases against Chester Taylor sent there on an appeal from Mayor Bebout's court. There were two charges against Taylor growing out of the trouble he had with the officials while under quarantine for smallpox. A motion to quash in the other case pending against him was taken under advisement.

The case that was dismissed was the one charging him with violating an order of the board of health. When the case reached the circuit court it was found that the affidavit charging the alleged offense had not even been signed and on this ground the case was dismissed. The motion to dismiss in both cases was filed by John Kiplinger, attorney for Taylor.

The other case charges that Taylor mutilated and destroyed a notice of the board of health. The motion for a dismissal in this case alleges that not sufficient facts are set forth to make a case against the defendant. Prosecutor Smith told the court that he thought the affidavit was properly signed, but it was not as was shown the court. Taylor, it will be remembered was fined $20 and costs and sentenced to thirty days in jail on both charges and the appeal was taken. With the dismissal of one of the cases in the circuit court the charge against Taylor will be dropped.

Hubert Moster, under arrest for dynamiting fish, was released from jail this morning when Hugo Schmalzel and James H. Barrett went on his bond for $350.

Judge Megee refused to dismiss the criminal case against the National Life Association of Des Moines, Ia., charged with rebating. The case has been on the docket for a long time and the motion to dismiss was filed this morning by the defendant. The case is set for trial Monday and it is quite likely that it will be taken to the supreme court because the Indiana law regarding the liability of agents for insurance companies has never been tested.

Judge Megee found for the International Shoe company in the case against Ira Bullard, on an account demanding $100. He gave the plaintiff company judgment in the sum of $92.06.

The court also found for Thomas K. Mull in the suit he brought against John T. Green on a note demanding $100. The defendant defaulted and the court gave judgment in the sum of $90, which includes $10 for attorney fees.

The case of the Farmers Trust company of this city against the Board of Finance of Jackson township was again placed on the docket this afternoon and will now be tried. The case was taken to the supreme court after Judge Megee sustained a demurrer and since the supreme court reversed the local court, the case will now be tried on the issues.

Patrick Hayes of near Raleigh was in a very serious condition today and little hopes of his recovery is given by the physicians.

SAYS HE LOST $ 1,300 HERE

Traveling Man Misses Money When he Reaches Indianapolis.

L. Lombard, a traveling man, lost $1,300 either at the local traction station or on a car between here and Indianapolis yesterday, according to word received by Paul McMahan, agent for the traction company. The money was in an envelope and was in $100 bills. He did not miss the money until he had arrived at the Hotel Severin, Indianapolis, then he began burning up the wires between Indianapolis and this city in an effort to locate the money. The agent at the I. & C. remembers the man and the money as he purchased two tickets and offered one of the hundred dollar bills in payment, but the agent did not have the change.

WAR SHIPMENT IS MEDIATION MENACE

Secretary Bryan Tries to Minimize the Danger, But President Considers Grave Question.

ACT OF WAR MAY FOLLOW YET

(By United Press.)

Washington, June 5.—War munitions shipped to Mexico loomed up today as a serious menace to mediation. Secretary Bryan tried to minimize the danger but it was learned President Wilson had already had the matter before him.

With arms enroute to Tampico sufficient to prepare Carranza for his attack on Mexico City and with another shipment about to clear, Bryan has been told that to stop them he must seize the customs house. This would be an act of war and Carranza would so consider it.

Bryan refused to clear up the middle over the embargo order except to say: "The order issued last week that no arms shall be cleared to Mexico still stands."

RAIN IS GENERAL ALL OVER COUNTY

Reports From Remotest Parts Are Steady Downpour Continued all Night, Was Great Help.

BREAKS DROUTH OF A MONTH

The rain was general all over Rush county last night and closed a long drouth which has prevailed all over the county for almost a month. The drouth had begun to get serious because the crops were baked by the hot sun and for the lack of moisture. From every part of the county come reports of a heavy, steady rainfall. The rain was just the kind that was needed at this time, farmers say. It was not a beating rain, but the kind that will have the proper effect. Opinion varies, but it seems to be the general belief that no crop was hindered to any great extent by the absence of rain.

There was an electrical display and several loud claps of thunder in the vicinity of Rushville, but there were no reports of damage from lightning. According to news from over the county, lightning was frequent and vivid, but no damage was done, so far as could be ascertained.

MESSAGE TELLS OF A SHIPMENT

Mayflower, President's Yacht, Intercepted on Way to Annapolis to Give Him News of Movement

VIOLATES MEDIATION PACT

In Speech to Cadets, President Prays to God There Will be no More Need of Force at Vera Cruz.

(By United Press.)

Annapolis, Md., June 5.—A message was received by President Wilson on the Yacht Mayflower, enroute to attend the commencement exercises of the naval academy, regarding the shipment of a large quantity of ammunition on the liner Antilla, supposedly for the Constitutionalists. Secretary Tammuly would not discuss the contents of the message, but it is known that the Mayflower was intercepted in order that the president might receive it.

It is known that the mediators also received similar word and they are believed to regard the shipment as a violation of the mediation mission.

President Wilson landed shortly after ten o'clock this morning after a stormy voyage and was received with a salute of twenty-one guns from the battleships Idaho and Missouri.

President Wilson voiced a desire to serve humanity rather than "to fight at the drop of the hat" in his address to the graduates here today. Taken as an indirect allusion to the Tampico incident the speech created a stir. He predicted that American occupation of Vera Cruz would leave a different taste in the mouths of people who feared and despised America.

"I pray to God we will need to use no more force at Vera Cruz," he said with bowed head.

"It ought to be your thought all of the time that you are sample Americans, not merely sample navy men" he said.

The most lasting impression of the Vera Cruz battle, he said, will be that the American navy used self control.

DAWSON HAS CHANCE.

Indianapolis, Ind., June 5.—Joe Dawson who has hovered near death since his accident in the Speedway race has five broken vertebrae. This was announced today following an X-ray examination made today. His physicians state he has a good chance for recovery.

"Everybody's Wearing 'Em"

More shoes and stockings are worn than any other article of attire.

Their use is universal. Their variety is infinite. They come in all shades of the good, bad, and indifferent.

Many wise makers have standardized these articles and are producing brands that are staples.

A most helpful guide to the best of these is the advertising columns of this newspaper.

Dealers and manufacturers from time to time set forth the merits of particular brands, thus making it possible for the public to buy with confidence.

Keep posted for the benefit of your own pocketbook.

DIRECTORS TO MEET LATE TODAY

Chautauqua Board Will Reorganize, But There Will be No New Members, it is Announced.

STOCKHOLDERS NAME ONES

The board of directors of the Rush County Chautauqua association were to meet this afternoon at four-thirty o'clock to reorganize. New officers will be elected, it is stated, although it was thought the old officers would hold over until today when this announcement was made.

The election of three new directors the other day seems to have been a mistake. J. H. Scholl, E. H. Payne and R. C. Hargrove were under the impression their terms had expired, but this is not the case. In any event, the directors have no right to elect new members to the board, as the by-laws of the organization provide the new directors shall be elected at the fall meeting of the stockholders, which was not held last fall.

Great things are expected of the chautauqua this year. The talent will cost from four hundred to five hundred dollars more than the talent last year, which indicates that the 1914 program will be better than the one last year, when the best in the history of the association was carried out.

VICTIM OF WHITE PLAGUE

Frank Ellison, Age 21 Years Dies at Home of His Father.

Frank Ellison, 21 years old, died last night at ten o'clock at the home of his father, Alonzo P. Ellison, west of the city. The young man had been suffering from tuberculosis since last fall and death was expected. He is survived by his father and step-mother, one brother, Charles, and one sister, Miss Lucile, and two half-brothers and one half-sister. The funeral services will be conducted Saturday afternoon at the late residence by the Rev. A. W. Conner of Irvington. Burial will take place in East Hill cemetery.

DIES AT COUNTY ASYLUM

Mrs. Lydia Frondorf, Age 89 Years Expires at Poor Farm.

Mrs. Lydia Frondorf, 89 years old, died last night at nine o'clock at the county asylum following a long illness. She had been in a serious condition for the last week. Death was due to senility and a complication of diseases. She had been an inmate of the farm for about six years. Mrs. Frondorf would have been 90 years old in November. She was the mother of Mrs. Orval Bartlett of this city. The funeral services will be conducted Saturday afternoon at two o'clock at the residence of Ira Cleverger. Burial will take place in East Hill cemetery.

EARLHAM PLANS STATE CONTEST

Prof. Trueblood Would Have Winners of Various Oratorical Associations Compete Next Year.

PREPARING FOR EVENT NOW

Rushville Will Get Next Meeting of Central Indiana High School League, Just Formed.

L. B. Smelser, in charge of the public speaking department of the high school, is in receipt of a letter from Prof. E. P. Trueblood, head of the public speaking department of Earlham college, stating that he is making plans for a state high school oratorical contest next spring.

His idea is to have the winners of the various league oratorical contests in Indiana meet in another contest at Richmond under the auspices of Earlham college, when special prizes would be given. In this way the champion of the state would be determined.

The Central Indiana High School league, which was recently formed, is one of the leagues which Prof. Trueblood plans to have participate. The first meeting of the league was held at Shelbyville a few weeks ago. Rushville is one of the members.

The Central Indiana Oratorical association is another organization which would be asked to co-operate in this event. Then there is one in southeastern Indiana and probably others in many parts of the state which would most willingly enter into this sort of an arrangement.

It seems likely that the next annual meeting of the Central Indiana High School league will be held here. Mr. Smelser has made an active campaign for it and has the consent of Shelbyville, Westfield and Greenfield. The last-named place agreed to support Rushville if it could have the 1916 meeting. A track and field meet is held in connection with the oratorical contest.

As Rushville won the contest this year with Miss Leah Flint as the school's representative, the local school hopes to duplicate next year and have the Rushville representative in the state contest at Earlham. Owing to Rushville's victory this year, it is expected a large number of contestants will enter the primary oratorical contest here next year. There is unusual interest and enthusiasm shown in the work.

AMUSEMENTS.

LIGHTNING CAUSES DAMAGE

Cleveland, Ohio, June 5.—Four known dead, millions in damage to grain crops and demoralized wire service, was the result today of the heaviest electrical storm in northern Ohio in many years. With the storm came wind, rain and hail.

Wayne Ashburger, of Attica, was killed by a falling tree. Odgon Green of New Wilmington, was killed by lightning. Robert Laporte died of heart trouble when a heavy crash of thunder came. A rural mail carrier of near New London was also struck by lightning and instantly killed. Early reports that several towns were destroyed by a tornado are discredited.

STRIKE THREATENS WESTINGHOUSE CO.

Pittsburgh, Pa., June 5.—The Westinghouse companies, employing nearly 20,000 men, were threatened by a general strike by 2,300 employees who gathered at the gates when they opened this morning. These men composed the night shift. They announced that they would not work until the company met their demands. They comprise about 20 per cent of the strength claimed by the union. Leaders claim 10,000 men will strike by midnight.

Many newspapers have been wondering for some time what is the matter with the Wilson administration. They have been expressing the sentiment of many people. The Washington Star has been canvassing the political situation and it reaches the following conclusions:

Democrats in Congress, pondering over the reports reaching them of alleged disaffection to the party and its works throughout the country, ask one another. "What's the matter with the Administration?"

And in nine cases out of ten the congressional answer places the blame upon the White House and the State Department. They exculpate

Congress on the ground that Congress is but registering the will of the Executive branch of the Government.

President Wilson is charged by many of his followers in Congress with bringing trouble upon the party through what they say is his highly developed spirit of self-will. His seeming determination to have his way once he has set out upon a course, they declare, is causing friction. They complain that at times he determines his course without consultation with them and thereafter is impervious to arguments in favor of the slightest modification of it.

They are beginning to blame him now for the Mexican situation. Hardly a Democrat in Congress but will say, "If he had recognized Huerta in the beginning there wouldn't be any Mexican situation." The same sentiment is heard frequently from Democrats and Republicans out of Congress, too.

Democrats admit with chagrin that Huerta has got the best of the United States in every move he has made and in every diplomatic argument. They do not cherish fond hopes that the situation will be much different when it comes to clinches with Carranza. Mediation, it will be recalled, aroused very little enthusiasm when proposed, though it was acknowledged that it could not be refused.

Subsequent disclosures that mediation was prompted by Secretary Bryan did not increase their cheerfulness.

The President's insistence upon canal tolls repeal is resented by many of the very men who will vote for it. The fact is, the opinion is growing that the Administration's policy on this subject is not popular in the country at large.

His determination to force through the antitrust bills at this session, even at the cost of holding Congress here until fall, is the subject of divided comment. Some Democrats hold that to abandon trust legislation now would be to arm Roosevelt. Others fear that the bills will react to the detriment of industry.

The latter view arises from uncertainty in many minds as to the practical effect of the proposed legislation. In point of fact, many Democrats are dubious on this score; it is not plain how deep the new law may strike. Many of them receive letters from constituents saying it will hurt business and hamper development. "To tell the truth, we don't know whether it will or not," many Democrats in Congress say.

The new banking and currency law has not proved out yet, and there is some uncertainty about that, although all are inclined to hope for and to expect the best.

Of course, the discontented Democrats make some allowance for their downcast feelings by the fact that the campaign for renomination and re-election is approaching, and they concede that they are perhaps supersensitive. But they do not conceal from one another the opinion that "Things do not look good," and naturally they cast about for somebody to blame.

Editorialettes

We are indebted to the Columbus Republican for the suggestion that General Blanquet, who looms up as a new dictator in Mexico, forms a wet blanket for the Huerta hopes.

OFFICIAL VOTE SHOWS BIG GAIN

Compared with 1912, Primary Election in Pennsylvania Reveals
55,535 More Republicans

DEMOCRATIC LOSS 159,659
Comparison Between Last Election and Registration Last Spring Shows Greater Gains

Washington, June 5.—The official vote cast at the recent state-wide primary in Pennsylvania is now available, and the politicians are trying to make up their minds as to its significance. Since interest in the state centered in the senatorship the vote cast for that office is taken to represent accurately the sentiment in the state. This vote was as follows:

Republican ..... 328,925
Democratic ..... 199,978
Progressive ..... 48,250

It is possible to compare this vote with the vote cast for President in the state in 1912, or with the registered vote in the state. The Presidential vote in 1912 was as follows:

Roosevelt ..... 444,894
Wilson ..... 359,637
Taft ..... 237,360

The vote in the state as registered last spring was as follows:

Republican ..... 681,485
Democratic ..... 374,617
Progressive ..... 114,611

It is assumed that the voters in the state had their bearings a little better in the recent primary than when the registration took place last spring, so the politicians are inclined to compare the primary vote with the vote of 1912. This comparison shows a slump of 396,644 Progressive votes in the state in eighteen months. It shows a Democratic loss of 159,659 and a Republican gain of 55,535.

Naturally the Republicans are distinctly encouraged by the showing of this primary vote in the second largest state in the Union. Some of the politicians who have undertaken to analyze the figures say it is probable that most of the Democratic loss represents the Republican vote in the state that was cast for Wilson two years ago. The Progressives are making no effort to explain the pitiable showing they made at the primaries, beyond the statement that since there was no contest for United States senator in the Bull Moose party, thousands of Progressives probably did not vote at all.

The politicians here are all wondering why the Progressive party in the state should suffer a loss of 396,644 votes in eighteen months if it had any vitality left.

It is being pointed out that the story told by the official figures in Pennsylvania takes on added importance when considered in connection with tests that have been made in other states. In every election and in every primary held since 1912, the Bull Moosers have shown a retrograde movement. This fact leads the politicians in the other parties to believe that the process of disintegration is nation-wide. Most observers realize that it is not for the leaders of the Bull Moose party to say whether the party is to survive, but for the voters to determine. The opinion now generally prevails among public men here that the voters will leave the Bull Moose leaders stranded. During the last week or ten days there have been intimations here that some of the Bull Moose leaders foresee what is coming and are preparing to look for a safe retreat.

The Democrats are anxious that the breakup of the new party shall not come prior to the congressional election of this year. They have been counting on the Bull Moosers helping them to elect the house of representatives once more at least. They make no secret of the fact that they regard every Progressive nomination for the congress as an aid to a Democratic candidate.

That there will be only two major political parties in the national campaign in 1916 is now generally accepted as a fact by men in public life, whether they affiliate with the Republican, the Democratic or the Progressive party. The talk among the Wilson Democrats is that by the time the national campaign comes on the Wilson administration will have been thoroughly tested; the Democratic legislation will have proved a failure or a success, and the masses of the voters will have made up their minds whether they wish to continue the administration four years more. The Democrats admit that they are not ready for a test this year, and because of that they welcome such help as the expiring Bull Moose party can give them. They say they will be ready in 1916 to try their strength with the reorganized Republican party.

Many of the politicians are already expressing interest in the future of some of the men who in 1912 cast their lot with the Bull Moose party. "What do you suppose will become of them?" is a question that always leads to plenty of speculation.

GOOD PROSPECTS FOR FOOTBALL

Purdue Has Makings for Conference Winner Next Season—Number of Veterans Left.

SCHOOL IS COMING BACK

Year Has Been Successful With the Exception of Track and This is Improving.

(By United Press.)

Lafayette, Ind., June 5.—Bright foot ball prospects have driven away the gloom of an unsuccessful base ball season at Purdue university and followers of the former sport predict that the boiler-makers will have a championship team next fall. Spring practice this year under the direction of Coach "Andy" Smith and Assistant Vaughan has done much to bolster up the hopes of the pigskin fans. Many unsuccessful seasons on the gridiron have given the impression that the art of foot ball at the local school was a thing of the past, but Coach Smith in a confident tone today said that Purdue next fall would defeat Chicago and Wisconsin. He does not consider Indiana or Ohio State and says that he thinks that his hardest game will be against Illinois.

Street, a member of the Purdue team of two years ago, and mentioned on the all-western team his first year out, will again be in school next year and will be seen in a back field position instead of at end. Stinchfield and Turner will probably be the Black and Old Gold ends for next year; Blocker and Bishop will play at the tackle position and Finn, Landis and East will place in the back field with O'Brien. All of these men are veterans and are well up on Smith's style of aggressiveness and defense. Among the new material that has shown form is Van Aiken, of Coldwater, Mich., who as a member of the freshman team this year played a wonderful game at full back. Pinkerton, of Chicago and Eldridge of West Lafayette, will also be candidates for back field positions. Smith of Chicago will undoubtedly fill in a line position and there are numerous other members of the present freshman class who will make bids for the varsity eleven.

Track and field work, a branch of sport which has never attracted much attention at the local university, drew large crowds this year on account of the excellent work in this department. Several Purdue records were broken by green men and Coach Mahin says that with another season's training he will be able to cope with Illinois on equal terms. Illinois has always taken the Black and Old Gold athletes into camp easily in this department. Klipple, a sophomore, has done the two mile circuit in 10:09 this year and Stahl has cleared the bar in the high jump at various heights between 5.10 and 6 feet. The one hundred yard dash has been done several times by Purdue men in 10 seconds and the low and high hurdles and mile run as well as the longer dashes have been made in remarkable time. The boiler-makers are weak in field work at the present time but Mahin says he will have some weight men next season that will compare favorably with the best in the conference.

WOMEN FURNISH MOST OF MONEY

Velvet For Mexican Bull Fights on Sunday in Juarez is Put up by "Lady Fans."

BABIES ALSO IN THE CROWD

Sport Takes Place of American Baseball and People Leave as They do in Seventh Inning.

(BY N. C. PARKE.)

(Written for United Press.)

Juarez, Mexico, May 28.—(By Mail to New York)—If the good ladies of Juarez hold ladies' aid society meetings or did the family darning on Sunday afternoon, a choice lot of matadors, picadores, banderillos capederos might be otherwise engaged as bartenders, barbers or cobblers.

It's the feminine fans in Juarez who furnish the "velvet," otherwise known as the profits, at the weekly bull-fights. In no city in Mexico, according to a prominent bull-fight promoter, do women form quite so large a number of the Sunday afternoon crowds that watch the bloody sport as in this border town. And it is only a fifteen-minute ride by street car to El Paso, Tex., where the above mentioned ladies' aid societies and darning circles hold forth on Sunday afternoons.

A third of the crowd that saw five bulls tormented to death, a horse torn to pieces and matador severely gored by a maddened bull on a recent Sunday in the Juarez bull ring, was made up of women. They came very early and stayed very late, because—according to the posters—it was all being done "in honor of the great General Francisco Villa."

The Juarez amphitheatre, like most others, is divided into two sections, "sombra" and "sol," or "Shade and sun." On the sombra side, where the price of a seat was two pesos, sat the elite of Juarez, tourists from El Paso hotels and military officers from the cuartel. There were so many of the military on the sombra side that you get the impression they were "dead-heads." On the sunny side were grouped the peons, the women of the lower classes, and about as many youngsters as were occupying the bleachers at the ball game over in El Paso.

Ranged along the first tiers of seats that swung in a semi-circle closest to the scene of gore, were the señoritas of Juarez, pretty, dark-eyed, slender figures, whose stops earlier in the day had been devoutly directed to the little white mission behind the central plaza. But having said their morning prayers, they were there applauding with little gloved hands the torture of the horses and the spilling of blood in the arena.

Babies were there, too—at least a score of them, sleeping in the arms of tired-looking mothers. When the fight grew tame and the groggy bull dragged himself wearily about the ring, the mothers rocked the infants or fanned away the flies. But if the fight lagged too much, the mothers with the pretty señoritas joined in the cry: "Otro tero!" (Bring another bull.)

The second bull had honored the great General Villa by succumbing to the matador after 40 minutes of vicious jabbing, when a young American girl enroute to her home in New York from a winter in California, furnished the crowd with unexpected amusement.

She was sitting in the second tier of seats, quite close to the ring. The third bull dashing into the arena and smarting with pain from the first thrust of steel, made straight for the low fence enclosing the ring and leaped it, his hoofs striking against the concrete base of the first row of seats.

The little American tourist sprang to her feet in terror. Gathering her skirts, she leaped up first one tier and then another. In her excitement she dropped into the lap of a Mexican trooper from the garrison. His Mauser rifle went rattling down the concrete structure and she sprang toward an exit in terror, "Ha-Ha, Don Pedro!"—shouted his comrades and the rest of their yells were drowned in volleys of laughter. The señoritas turned an amused but somewhat derisive smile on the whole proceeding. They had not moved when the el tero made his leap.

Evening came on—part of the men departed as American baseball fans do in the seventh inning of a listless baseball game—but the women held their seats. They tapped their heels against the concrete when the band responded to the cry for "musica" and joined in the vivas when a clever banderillo succeeded in thrusting a pair of gaily colored banderillas into a bull's neck. A cool breeze blew in over the hills south of Juarez. It signaled a gorgeous display from the señorita contingent, who began swathing shoulders in mantillas that outdid the rainbow for colors. Higher up the sides of the amphitheatre, the mothers were covering the babies with black mantillas or dark blue robesos.

When the bespangled matador had made his final sword thrust and tiny feminine hands had beat the last applause of the evening, the señoritas, walking in pairs, moved slowly off in the direction of the little white mission. The seniors, who had worked themselves into five different fits of frenzy—one for each bull—gathered at the cantina of Jesus Roderiquez, not far from the bull ring, to drink to the health of the matador.

OLD RIVALS MEET FOR SECOND TIME

Great Interest Shown in Coming Game With Connersville and Rushville Hopes to Win.

SLIGHT CHANGE IN LINEUP

Great interest is being shown by the fans in the game Sunday between the Arcadians and Connersville. The largest crowd of the season will no doubt attend and a real game is expected. Connersville fans will come on two special cars and expect their team to repeat at the expense of Rushville. The same lineup will be used as faced Rushville in the first game of the series.

Manager Fisher of the Arcadians has secured Walter Queisser to play center field and O'Dell will be placed in right. Patterson will start the game and he is confident of winning with good support in the field. Harris, who last year played with the Kansas City Feds will play second base and Spellman will be moved over to third. This should hold the infield and with Bridges on first the team should travel. On account of the union lodge memorial services the game will be called at three o'clock.

Notice of Final Settlement of Estate.

Notice is hereby given to the creditors, heirs and legatees of Rebecca Gardner, deceased, to appear in the Rush Circuit court, held at Rushville, Indiana, on the 10th day of June, 1914, and show cause, if any, why Final Settlement Accounts with the estate of said decedent should not be approved; and said heirs are notified to then and there make proof of heirship, and receive their distributive shares.

Witness, the Clerk of Said Court, this 15th day of May, 1914.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

get. We need an Auditorium, and we are going to have one. But to secure it, we must have the money; and we want every citizen of Rushville to think it over. The playground and Auditorium are not the only things we need, but they are the most feasible, and the most needed. Here is an opportunity that would make a Carnegie or a Dan Reid turn green with envy. What a memorial to have to the honor of one's name, in so useful a place.

What a prosperous person but owes his prosperity to those about him, though it be gathered honestly, and by the hardest toil? The very rich always share their wealth in such a manner. We need only a modest outlay, and in the case of the Auditorium, not even a gift is needed. It would pay dividends, and the ownership would not pass from the hands of the patrons. The Coliseum in Richmond has never paid less than 8% and often as high as 25% on the investment, even after paying for its construction. With Rushville's central location, and splendid railway facilities, there is no doubt as to the outcome. We can't afford to do without it. But somebody must be ready to invest the few thousands necessary, that will give such returns in pride in our city, as well as in publicity and in money.

RUSHVILLE CAN STILL USE MANY IMPROVEMENTS.

be beautified by public spirited citizens, who give of their plenty to provide pleasures for their fellows. What city of any consequence but is famed for the parks or hospitals, or memorial churches, or libraries, or other useful buildings, donated to the public good by residents, or even former residents of those cities? It must be worth while, else the custom of useful giving would have died out long ago. The least those philanthropists can get for their generosity, is the perpetuation of their names, for the pendulum swings back a generation or two, and the wealth that was garnered by the toil of one or two is scattered by the next generation of luxurious lives.

True, Rushville has no millionaires; but then, we need no $100,000 buildings. There isn't room here for even a Y. M. C. A. of that caliber; and besides, a Y. M. C. A. is rarely built as the gift of one man, but by the contributions of hundreds or thousands. Rushville, however, is a city of retired farmers, in prosperous circumstances, and we are all proud of this fact, and invariably boast of it. There are many comfortable fortunes represented in our city, and some that are more than comfortable. And we do need some modest public improvements that would round out the beauty of the city, and at comparatively small outlay would give us the right to boast over our sister cities for generations. We need a public playground, for not a good playground can be found in our municipality where our biggest problem, (our boys, about whom we worry so much) may play ball and offend no one; where supervised play would save an incalculable toll in spoiled lives. We need a library building, though when we decide we want it that will not be so hard to

SLIM GRACEFUL DESIGNS FOR NET OR CREPE.

Among the sheer, crisp materials favoring relief. The average width of silk crepe is 38 to 40 inches, and it may be purchased from 75 cents a yard and up. To copy this frock in size 36, the blouse (8370) requires 3 3/4 yards of 36-inch material. The skirt (8038) may be made with 2 3/4 yards of 42-inch goods. Bordered net shows up very attractively in the next frock, 8367, which closes down the back, has an upstanding Medici collar and a V-shaped opening in front; the skirt is a three-piece design gathered at the top. These nets average 42 inches in width and range in price from $1.25 a yard and up. This dress requires for size 36, 3 3/4 yards of 42-inch width.

For simple afternoon frocks showing a pannier or puff, the Dolly Varden taffetas are quite the most fetching things imaginable, with their soft colorings and quaint flower designs. Plain silk crepes, too, are much used, as they are becoming and most practical. The tunic frock shown in Number 8370-8038 is developed in one of these silk crepes; the color is French blue and a crush girdle of black satin offers pleasant relief.

Department Offers Suggestions On the Incubation of Hen's Eggs

Users of incubators are given the following suggestions in a new free publication of the Department of Agriculture entitled "Natural and Artificial Incubation of Hens' Eggs."

See that the incubator is running steadily at the desired temperature before filling with eggs. Do not add fresh eggs to a tray containing eggs which are undergoing incubation.

Turn the eggs twice daily after the second and until the nineteenth day. Cool the eggs once daily, according to the weather from the seventh to the nineteenth day.

Turn the eggs before caring for the lamps.

Attend to the machine carefully at regular hours.

Keep the lamp and wick clean.

Test the eggs on the seventh and fourteenth days.

Do not open the machine after the eighteenth day until the chickens are hatched.

In setting up and operating an incubator follow the directions of the manufacturer. There are a large number of reliable American-made incubators, but the Department cannot recommend any particular kind. It does advise, however, that poultry raisers select an incubator that has already given satisfaction in the vicinity where it is to be used. As the cost of the machine is small compared with the eggs it incubates, it is a good investment to get a well-constructed incubator instead of a cheap one, which requires more attention and wears out quicker.

The equipment of most incubators is so subject to change that particular lamps, regulations, etc., cannot be recommended. The lamp, however, should have a bowl large enough to hold enough oil to burn 36 hours under average weather conditions, should be easy to remove and replace should set absolutely tight in position, and be at a convenient height.

An incubator holding 60 eggs calls for as much time and care as one holding 360, and for ordinary use, a machine of at least 150 egg capacity seems most satisfactory. On those large farms that use individual-lamp incubators, the machine usually holds from 300 to 400 eggs, and a small machine is sometimes used for a preliminary test, the eggs being transferred to the large incubator after the first or second test. Large machines cost less in proportion to the number of eggs they hold than smaller ones. However, smaller machines are valuable under special conditions, as for preliminary testing.

Chickens are more even in size when they all hatched within a short time of each other than when the incubating period is extended over many weeks. Many poultrymen, therefore, believe that it pays to have an incubator large enough to hatch most of their stock in two, or at most, three hatches. Much time in tending to the incubators and brooders is saved in this way. A fair estimate for a poultry farm is to have the incubator hold as many eggs as there are hens, provided that about one-half of the flock is to be renewed yearly and no outside hatching is carried on.

A well-ventilated room, which is not subject to great variations in temperature, should be selected for the incubator. If built above ground, the wall should be double and the entire building insulated. In sections that have a mild climate, machines may be operated in buildings with single walls, but a well-insulated room is always preferable.

Where only a few small machines are used they are generally run in a room or cellar of the house. Good results in hatching may be secured in cellars as well as in rooms, and these are more commonly used. Many of these cellars are provided with some system of ventilation beside windows, muslin screens on the windows often providing good ventilation without draft, and keeping the sun from shining on the machines. Cement floors are easier to keep clean than dirt floors. Where the equipment is extensive, a special cellar or house should be provided.

In setting up the machine, get it perfectly level. Do not plane off the door if it sticks, until the machine has been heated up and thoroughly dried. Run the machine at about 102° F. for a day before putting in the eggs. Afterwards do not touch the regulator for several hours as it takes this time for the machine to come back to its regular temperature.

The temperature should remain nearly even. When the bulb of the eggs the temperature is usually held at 101 1/2° to 102° F. the first week, 102° to 103° F. the second week, and thermometer rests directly on the 103° F. the last week; while a hanging thermometer is operated at about 102° to 102 1/2° F. the first two weeks, and 103° F. the last week.

The eggs tend to throw off more heat as they develop so that occasionally the regulator needs to be changed slightly, but it should not be changed any more than is absolutely necessary. The temperature of the egg chamber may be lowered by lowering the flame of the lamp in the middle of the day. Regulate the incubator before opening the door to tend to the eggs. Most operators tend to their machines two or three times daily.

The cause of poor hatches is a much discussed question, which depends on a great variety of circumstances. A poor hatch is more apt to be due to the condition of the eggs previous to hatching than to incubation, although improper handling of either factor will produce the same results. When eggs fail to hatch, see whether the breeding stock is kept under conditions which tend to produce strong, fertile germs in the eggs, if the eggs have been handled properly before incubation, and whether the conditions were right during incubation, as judged by the time of the hatch.

A daily temperature record should be kept of each machine. The operator can thus compare the temperature at which the machines have been kept, which may prove valuable in the future work, especially if the brooder records can be checked back against those of the incubator.

Every poultry raiser who contemplates setting up an incubator is advised to write for the new bulletin, to the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C. Among other details it has paragraphs on moisture and ventilation, testing eggs, and disinfecting and storing incubators.

MARIAN COLE FISHER

A National Authority on the Subject of PURE FOODS and the ART OF COOKING.

In a recent interview on baking powder stated as follows:

"I find many, in fact, very many, women woefully uninformed on the subject of baking powder. Evidently the housewife does not appreciate the value of baking powder in her kitchen and in her baking, or she would have informed herself. This is a subject that is quite important."

"A great many of the housewives today have followed their mothers or grandmothers in the use of baking powder, which in some instances is a mistake. There has been just as much improvement in baking powder as in other commodities. I am glad to find that baking powder has kept up with the times."

Some housewives have been led to believe that the cream of tartar powders are the best goods to use. This is a mistake, resulting no doubt from the constant efforts of the Twenty Million Dollar Baking Powder Trust to create a prejudice against all goods save their own. Their goods should be least desirable on account of the large quantities of Rochelle Salts remaining in the food.

The other extreme is the cheap and "Big Can" baking powders, which sell all the way from ten cents a pound to a cent an ounce. These are even less desirable than the high-priced goods. I can say nothing in their favor. They are never economical; frequently leaving the baking bleached and acid; sometimes yellow and alkaline, and often unpalatable. They are not dependable and represent false economy at any price.

The most simple way for the housewife to class baking powder is by price. The trust goods that retail for 45c or 50c a pound are usually the cream of tartar powders, and are of the old school; and the cheap and "Big Can" kind that sell all the way from 10c a pound up to a cent an ounce should also be avoided.

The last word in baking powder is the happy medium, a combination powder that sells at a moderate price and when properly prepared gives the consumer full value for the money. The result in baking is pure, wholesome food, without any harmful residue. There is no reason why any housewife should pay 45c or 50c per pound. The best baking powder made can be manufactured so as to retail at about 1/2 this price.

On being asked what baking powder she used in her work, Marian Cole Fisher frankly stated that for more than seven years she had used Calumet Baking Powder with the most satisfactory results in every particular.

IF BACKACHY OR KIDNEYS BOTHER

Eat less meat and take a glass of Salts to flush out Kidneys—
Drink plenty water.

Uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish, ache, and feel like lumps of lead. The urine becomes cloudy; the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. When the kidneys clog you must help them flush off the body's urinous waste or you'll be a real sick person shortly. At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach gets sour, tongue coated and you feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad.

Eat less meat, drink lots of water; also get from any pharmacist four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active. Druggists here say they sell lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

UNIVERSITY IS AGAINST GIRL

Mable Rodgers, Plaintiff in Suit
Against Hazers, is Snubbed by
Almost Everyone in Purdue

IS AGAINST SEVEN CO-EDS

Authorities will Make Effort to Keep
Case from Coming to Trial as it
Will Attract Attention

(By United Press.)

Lafayette, Ind., June 5.—Pretty Mabel Rodgers, of Shoals, Ind., plaintiff in the sensational $7,000 damage suit against seven of her sister co-eds at Purdue university for alleged hazing, is still in school. Because of a time worn custom of all students of the school never to let the facts of a hazing case reach the school authorities or the outside, the little freshman is playing her game alone roaming by herself, studying alone and enjoying what little amusements she can afford in a solitary manner. Girl members of the school pass her by with turned heads and the young men of the institution stare at her in amazement for her audacity in breaking one of the oldest customs of the school.

Probably never before in the history of the state institution has a student shown more fortitude than the frail girl. She bravely meets the snubs and sneers of her fellow students and does her class work along side of them in school as though they were on the best of terms. She has ceased trying to make friends among the girls, finding it of no avail. She is working hard in an effort to pass her first year in the institution successfully and present indications are that she will go through with colors flying.

This incident recalls another in Purdue's history. John Males a freshman, donned the corduroys of the seniors and wore them on the street. He was notified to take them off and when he refused the trousers were stolen by his room-mate. Hales filed a charge of petit larceny against his room-mate who was exonerated. Hales could not stand the manner in which he was treated in the school and left the institution two weeks after the trial.

Mabel Rogers alleged in her complaint filed in the superior court here that she was hazed by seven senior girls of the institution on a night in January and that her health was permanently injured. She alleges that she was studying when the girls entered her room, dragged her out, stripped, her clothing and painted her chest, back, neck and face with red ink. She says they also poured a bottle of mucilage down her back and stuck her with pins to compel her to kneel before them. Their last act, she alleges, was to throw her into a tub of cold water. At the time she was ill and told her assailants this, she alleges, but they paid no attention to her statement. She was unconscious and hysterical after the attack and was compelled to take treatment at a local hospital.

The defendants are Mary Clark, of Indianapolis, Ruth Cowan of Chicago; Mary Sheridan, of Attica, Ester Kisner, of Terre Haute, Agnes Phillips, of Monroeville, May Blue, of Star City, and Helen Lee, of Oxford. The attorneys for the plaintiff are Frank Kimmell, of this city and H. McCormick, of Shoals, Miss Rogers is a resident of Shoals, and is an orphan. She is working her way through the local institution. It is rumored that she and Attorney McCormick are engaged to be married.

Authorities of the university will do everything in their power to keep the case from coming to trial, as in their judgment it will bring much undesirable attention to the school. The fact that none of the girl defendants have employed attorneys seems to substantiate the rumor that the case will be compromised. Attorneys for the plaintiff when interviewed on the matter said that they had not been approached with a compromise but said that they would consider the settlement of the case out-

Absolutely Sanitary

A good Hirschman Mattress will give you a lifetime of comfort and satisfaction. Many mattresses are filled with unclean, unsanitary disease-breeding materials. The Hirschman "Kingston Special" contains nothing but pure, clean, sanitary cotton felt, from which every atom of vegetable oil or germs have been eliminated by the Hirschman process.

We Warrant Them

This mattress is absolutely germ-proof and non-absorbent. If the ticking becomes soiled you can scrub it with a brush and soap and water.

Before shipping to us each mattress was first wrapped in heavy paper and then sewed up in burlap. The usual custom is to throw the mattresses in a car loose. Every mattress is therefore clean, fresh and new and in perfect condition.

Honest All Through

The Hirschman "Kingston Special" Mattress is an honest mattress. It is made of clean, elastic, long fibre cotton, built up in layers by expert workmen. It will not pack, no matter how long it is used. It is five pounds heavier than the ordinary mattress, giving extra thickness and an added touch of luxury. Every mattress guaranteed perfect and warranted pure cotton felt.

AN OLD RECIPE TO DARKEN HAIR

Common garden Sage and Sulphur makes streaked, faded or gray hair dark and glossy at once.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray; also ends dandruff, itching scalp and stops falling hair. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome.

Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy." You will get a large bottle for about 50 cents. Everybody uses this old, famous recipe, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy and you look years younger.

COUNCIL LETS OIL CONTRACT

Indiana Road Preserving Company,
Represented by Walter Rhineheimer, Offers Only Bid.

MAY START WORK IN A WEEK

Contract Calls For 5.1 Cents a Lineal Foot, Which is $800 and $900 Below Estimate.

Only one bid for the oiling of the streets was received by the city council at the special session last night and it was accepted. The bid was from the Indiana Road Preserving company, represented before the council by Walter Rhineheimer. The bid was 3.8 cents a square yard which figures out about 5.1 cents a lineal foot for thirty foot streets.

The bid was considered very reasonable and the mayor and clerk were instructed to enter into a contract with Mr. Rhineheimer. The bond of the contractor was placed at $3,000 and he will begin work as soon as possible. Mr. Rhineheimer told the council that he would probably be ready to start the oiling within a week.

The contract price of 5.1 cents a lineal foot for one side is lower than the bids received last year. The city engineer in the plans and specifications estimated the total cost of oiling at $7,500. The one bid received is $800 or $900 lower than the estimate. The plans call for less oil this year than last, but they also specify that two applications shall be made.

The oil will be placed three feet from the curb on either side of the streets thus making a thirty foot street twenty-four feet when it is figured in the final assessment. One side of the street will be oiled at a time and in this manner it will not be necessary to close the entire street. The company receiving the contract is composed of Mr. Rhineheimer and Albert Capp.

Mayor Behout appointed a park committee last night. The committee is composed of Councilmen Sexton, Wagoner and Scudder. The council plans to have the grass cut and the park in better condition.

HAS BIG PROBLEM TO SOLVE

Noah Tryon Will Try to Locate Show With 300 People at Fair.

Noah Tryon, superintendent of concessions for the coming annual Rush county fair, which will be held this year the week of August 24, has a big problem to solve. A show carrying three hundred people wants ground space for the fair and Mr. Tryon is trying to figure out some way to locate the tent. He fears that he will be unable to find a space large enough. The show is carried on sixteen fifty-foot cars.

BIG FOUR WILL GIVE LOCAL GATES TRIAL

Requisition is Put in by Railroad For Some of Product of National Gate Company Here.

OFFICIALS INSPECT PLANT

Three officials of the Big Four were here yesterday and inspected the National Gate company, a Rush county organization which recently erected a new building at the intersection of the Big Four, L. E. & W. and C. H. & D. railroads. They were P. J. Hays, superintendent; E. L. Roederer, division freight agent, and H. L. Frost, traveling freight agent. Through the efforts of E. C. McMahon, Big Four agent here, the Big Four company has put in a requisition for some gates by the National Gate company and will give them a trial. This is quite a boost for the Rushville concern. The question of obtaining a requisition had to go before the engineer of the company and called for his inspection of models of the gates made here.

Mr. McMahon worked hard to get a location for the company before it obtained its present site. He had arranged for Big Four property at the intersection of the Big Four and Seventh street to be used by the company, but the agreement was not put through until the day the company purchased the ground on which it built the building it is now using.

TAGGARTISM IN THE LOCAL FIGHT

"Wets" and "Drys" Also Said to Have Important Bearing in Warfare Among Democrats Here.

TO NAME TICKET SATURDAY

Cary Jackson Will Have to Bear Brunt of Ring Attack—Efforts to Get One Candidate.

Among the pre-convention stories that are going the rounds is one that Taggartism is forcing its way into local Democratic politics. The county convention of the party will be held at the coliseum Saturday and today there were all sorts of stories that factionalism had been injected into the fight on certain candidates. It is also said that the "wet" and "dry" issue has an important bearing on some of the contests.

From observations and reports that are gaining credence, Cary Jackson of this city, former Rush county representative and joint-senator from Rush, Fayette and Hancock counties, candidate for the nomination for county treasurer, will have to bear the brunt of the attack of the machine. Oliver Cook, of Richland township, is his opponent.

It is common knowledge that the Taggart Democrats, of which there are many in the inner circles of local Democracy, are fixing up a slate for the county ticket and will use every available method to put it across. On the other hand, the anti-Taggart men are not standing idly by and are at work among the delegates to offset the effect of the activity of the Taggart men.

Of course the Taggart element in the party and the "wet" element is the same crowd. This is said to be one of the reasons why the Taggart men are after the scalp of Cary Jackson because he has been an influential "dry" worker.

It was noted that the Democrats were late in bringing out a candidate for the nomination for representative. Night before last Bert Bonner, cashier of the Mays bank, threw his hat into the ring after efforts had been made to get Will Inlow of Manilla into the race.

Inlow was wanted, it is reported, to offset the inroads that W. R. Jinnett of Manilla is expected to make in the Democratic stronghold, Walker township. But he is said to have refused absolutely to consent to allow his name to go before the convention. Inlow is said to be an ardent "dry" man.

J. M. Stiers wanted the nomination for representative the worst kind, it is said, but the leaders are said to have told him that he wouldn't do. It is also common report that O. C. Norris, Rush county's representative in the last Indiana legislature, wanted to repeat, but that the ringleaders feared that he could not come back after having served a term in the lower house.

CHOIR LEADER IN COURT.

(By United Press.)

Chicago, June 5.—Homer Rodehever of Warsaw, Ind., choir leader for Evangelist Billy Sunday scowled and paced the court room nervously today when attorneys condemned him for alleged breach of promise to marry Miss Georgia Jay. It was the closing argument in the $50,000 suit.

Mr. and Mrs. William Emsweller are preparing to move to a farm near Andersonville where they will spend the summer.

TAYLOR FREED ON ONE CHARGE

One Affidavit Against Young Man Who Caused Trouble Under Smallpox Quarantine Unsigned.

DISMISSAL ASKED IN OTHER

Case of Farmers Trust Company Against Jackson Township Board of Finance Will be Tried.

Judge Megee this morning in the circuit court sustained a motion to dismiss one of the cases against Chester Taylor sent thereon an appeal from Mayor Behout's court. There were two charges against Taylor growing out of the trouble he had with the officials while under quarantine for smallpox. A motion to quash in the other case pending against him was taken under advisement.

The case that was dismissed was the one charging him with violating an order of the board of health. When the case reached the circuit court it was found that the affidavit charging the alleged offense had not even been signed and on this ground the case was dismissed. The motion to dismiss in both cases was filed by John Kiplinger, attorney for Taylor.

The other case charges that Taylor mutilated and destroyed a notice of the board of health. The motion for a dismissal in this case alleges that not sufficient facts are set forth to make a case against the defendant. Prosecutor Smith told the court that he thought the affidavit was properly signed, but it was not as was shown the court. Taylor, it will be remembered was fined $20 and costs and sentenced to thirty days in jail on both charges and the appeal was taken. With the dismissal of one of the cases in the circuit court the charge against Taylor will be dropped.

Hubert Moser, under arrest for dynamiting fish, was released from jail this morning when Hugo Schmalzel and James H. Barrett went on his bond for $350.

Judge Megee refused to dismiss the criminal case against the National Life Association of Des Moines, Ia., charged with rebating. The case has been on the docket for a long time and the motion to dismiss was filed this morning by the defendant. The case is set for trial Monday and it is quite likely that it will be taken to the supreme court because the Indiana law regarding the liability of agents for insurance companies has never been tested.

Judge Megee found for the International Shoe company in the case against Ira Bullard, on an account demanding $100. He gave the plaintiff company judgment in the sum of $92.06.

The court also found for Thomas K. Mull in the suit he brought against John T. Green on a note demanding $100. The defendant defaulted and the court gave judgment in the sum of $90, which includes $10 for attorney fees.

The case of the Farmers Trust company of this city against the Board of Finance of Jackson township was again placed on the docket this afternoon and will now be tried. The case was taken to the supreme court after Judge Megee sustained a demurrer and since the supreme court reversed the local court, the case will now be tried on the issues.

Patrick Hayes of near Raleigh was in a very serious condition today and little hopes of his recovery is given by the physicians.

SAYS HE LOST $ 1,300 HERE

Traveling Man Misses Money When he Reaches Indianapolis.

L. Lombard, a traveling man, lost $1,300 either at the local traction station or on a car between here and Indianapolis yesterday, according to word received by Paul McMahon, agent for the traction company. The money was in an envelope and was in $100 bills. He did not miss the money until he had arrived at the Hotel Severin, Indianapolis, then he began burning up the wires between Indianapolis and this city in an effort to locate the money. The agent at the I. & C. remembers the man and the money as he purchased two tickets and offered one of the hundred dollar bills in payment, but the agent did not have the change.

WAR SHIPMENT IS MEDIATION MENACE

Secretary Bryan Tries to Minimize the Danger, But President Considers Grave Question.

ACT OF WAR MAY FOLLOW YET

(By United Press.)

Washington, June 5.—War munitions shipped to Mexico loomed up today as a serious menace to mediation. Secretary Bryan tried to minimize the danger but it was learned President Wilson had already had the matter before him.

With arms enroute to Tampico sufficient to prepare Carranza for his attack on Mexico City and with another shipment about to clear, Bryan has been told that to stop them he must seize the customs house. This would be an act of war and Carranza would so consider it.

Bryan refused to clear up the muddle over the embargo order except to say: "The order issued last week that no arms shall be cleared to Mexico still stands."

RAIN IS GENERAL ALL OVER COUNTY

Reports From Remotest Parts Are Steady Downpour Continued all Night, Was Great Help.

BREAKS DROUTH OF A MONTH

The rain was general all over Rush county last night and closed a long drouth which has prevailed all over the county for almost a month. The drouth had begun to get serious because the crops were baked by the hot sun and for the lack of moisture. From every part of the county come reports of a heavy, steady rainfall. The rain was just the kind that was needed at this time, farmers say. It was not a beating rain, but the kind that will have the proper effect. Opinion varies, but it seems to be the general belief that no crop was hindered to any great extent by the absence of rain.

There was an electrical display and several loud claps of thunder in the vicinity of Rushville, but there were no reports of damage from lightning. According to news from over the county, lightning was frequent and vivid, but no damage was done, so far as could be ascertained.

MESSAGE TELLS OF A SHIPMENT

Mayflower, President's Yacht, Intercepted on Way to Annapolis to Give Him News of Movement

VIOLATES MEDIATION PACT

In Speech to Cadets, President Prays to God There Will be No More Need of Force at Vera Cruz.

(By United Press.)

Annapolis, Md., June 5.—A message was received by President Wilson on the Yacht Mayflower, enroute to attend the commencement exercises of the naval academy, regarding the shipment of a large quantity of ammunition on the liner Antilla, supposedly for the Constitutionalists. Secretary Tumulty would not discuss the contents of the message, but it is known that the Mayflower was intercepted in order that the president might receive it.

It is known that the mediators also received similar word and they are believed to regard the shipment as a violation of the mediation mission.

President Wilson landed shortly after ten o'clock this morning after a stormy voyage and was received with a salute of twenty-one guns from the battleships Idaho and Missouri.

President Wilson voiced a desire to serve humanity rather than "to fight at the drop of the hat" in his address to the graduates here today. Taken as an indirect allusion to the Tampico incident the speech created a stir. He predicted that American occupation of Vera Cruz would leave a different taste in the mouths of people who feared and despised America.

"I pray to God we will need to use no more force at Vera Cruz," he said with bowed head.

"It ought to be your thought all of the time that you are sample Americans, not merely sample navy men" he said.

The most lasting impression of the Vera Cruz battle, he said, will be that the American navy used self control.

DAWSON HAS CHANCE.

"Everybody's Wearing 'Em'

More shoes and stockings are worn than any other article of attire.

Their use is universal. Their variety is infinite. They come in all shades of the good, bad, and indifferent.

Many wise makers have standardized these articles and are producing brands that are staples.

A most helpful guide to the best of these is the advertising columns of this newspaper.

Dealers and manufacturers from time to time set forth the merits of particular brands, thus making it possible for the public to buy with confidence.

Rushville, Most Beautiful City Can Still Use Improvements

The following was issued from the Chamber of Commerce headquarters today:

Rushville is the most beautiful city in Indiana. We all know that; and if we didn't, we should soon find it out, for every stranger who stops here says so before he leaves, and carries the word with him. Many a time has the writer been told in many strange places, by persons who have been here, that Rushville is the most beautiful city they had ever seen. We like to feel that way, and we boast of it. Our residences, our court house, our shade trees, our lawns, our streets, are all beautiful. Can they be more beautiful?

They can. Some flowers on the court house lawn, and out at the park would help. Why not let some of our women's organizations have some flowers put there? That is one way. Here is another. Each business house down town could set two or three tubs of flowers out on the edge of the sidewalk. Barrels sawed in two would do well. Rushville has some first class green-houses. Such flowers, and even the tubs, can be provided by our florists at low cost especially if most or all of our merchants would invest a dollar or two for a whole summer beautifying of our hot, dry and prosaic business streets. Let some do it even if others do not. Let somebody take the lead in this, and see what a difference it would make. The publicity that such a public spirited thing would bring, would make it pay. In many a place throughout this region, persons would say: "Rushville? The most beautiful city I have ever seen. Why even the merchants have flowers in front of their stores, and Main and Second streets are the prettiest streets in town."

There is another kind of beauty, however; a form of beauty in which Rushville is not so great, and which we have in far less degree than some of the cities we are prone to patronize. It is the beauty that is expressed in public benefactions, a beauty of spirit. As a plain person may be made beautiful by good deeds and a generous soul, so may a city. Continued on Page 8.

and have every style buggy known to the best vehicle builders in the country. We have large, roomy buggies that are low down and easy to get in and out of and then we have them for the young folks (we don't mean baby carriages) and middle aged people. In fact, we have buggies to meet every requirement of all kinds of buggy users. There is no use for us to tell you of their quality, perhaps you have already found that out by using one, or if not you can ask your neighbor and he will tell you how they wear. You take no chances when you buy from us because we guarantee every buggy we sell and guarantee it an honest one, and one that is always good. We believe that an honest guarantee gives us the good will of our customers and when a merchant loses the good will of his customers he is flirting with the commercial undertaker. DIRECTORS TO MEET LATE TODAY

Chautauqua Board Will Reorganize, But There Will be No New Members, it is Announced.

STOCKHOLDERS NAME ONES

The board of directors of the Rush County Chautauqua association were to meet this afternoon at four-thirty o'clock to reorganize. New officers will be elected, it is stated, although it was thought the old officers would hold over up until today when this announcement was made.

The election of three new directors the other day seems to have been a mistake. J. H. Scholl, E. H. Payne and R. C. Hargrove were under the impression their terms had expired, but this is not the case. In any event, the directors have no right to elect new members to the board, as the by-laws of the organization provide the new directors shall be elected at the fall meeting of the stockholders, which was not held last fall.

Great things are expected of the chautauqua this year. The talent will cost from four hundred to five hundred dollars more than the talent last year, which indicates that the 1914 program will be better than the one last year, when the best in the history of the association was carried out.

He is survived by his father and step-mother, one brother, Charles, and one sister, Miss Lucile, and two half-brothers and one half-sister. The funeral services will be conducted Saturday afternoon at the late residence by the Rev. A. W. Conner of Irvington. Burial will take place in East Hill cemetery.

DIES AT COUNTY ASYLUM

Mrs. Lydia Frondorf, Age 89 Years Expires at Poor Farm.

Mrs. Lydia Frondorf, 89 years old, died last night at nine o'clock at the county asylum following a long illness. She had been in a serious condition for the last week. Death was due to senility and a complication of diseases. She had been an inmate of the farm for about six years. Mrs. Frondorf would have been 90 years old in November. She was the mother of Mrs. Orval Bartlett of this city. The funeral services will be conducted Saturday afternoon at two o'clock at the residence of Ira Clevenger. Burial will take place in East Hill cemetery.

EARLHAM PLANS STATE CONTEST

Prof. Trueblood Would Have Winners of Various Oratorical Associations Compete Next Year.

PREPARING FOR EVENT NOW

Rushville Will Get Next Meeting of Central Indiana High School League, Just Formed.

L. B. Smelser, in charge of the public speaking department of the high school, is in receipt of a letter from Prof. E. P. Trueblood, head of the public speaking department of Earlham college, stating that he is making plans for a state high school oratorical contest next spring.

His idea is to have the winners of the various league oratorical contests in Indiana meet in another contest at Richmond under the auspices of Earlham college, when special prizes would be given. In this way the champion of the state would be determined.

The Central Indiana High School league, which was recently formed, is one of the leagues which Prof. Trueblood plans to have participate. The first meeting of the league was held at Shelbyville a few weeks ago. Rushville is one of the members.

The Central Indiana Oratorical association is another organization which would be asked to co-operate in this event. Then there is one in southeastern Indiana and probably others in many parts of the state which would most willingly enter into this sort of an arrangement.

It seems likely that the next annual meeting of the Central Indiana High School league will be held here. Mr. Smelser has made an active campaign for it and has the consent of Shelbyville, Westfield and Greenfield. The last-named place agreed to support Rushville if it could have the 1916 meeting. A track and field meet is held in connection with the oratorical contest.

As Rushville won the contest this year with Miss Leah Flint as the school's representative, the local school hopes to duplicate next year and have the Rushville representative in the state contest at Earlham. Owing to Rushville's victory this year, it is expected a large number of contestants will enter the primary oratorical contest here next year. There is unusual interest and enthusiasm shown in the work.

AMUSEMENTS.

4 DIE IN WORST STORM IN YEARS

Grain Crops Damaged Millions of Dollars and Wire Service Demoralized in Ohio Today

LIGHTNING CAUSES DAMAGE

Cleveland, Ohio, June 5.—Four known dead, millions in damage to grain crops and demoralized wire service, was the result today of the heaviest electrical storm in northern Ohio in many years. With the storm came wind, rain and hail.

Wayne Ashburger, of Attica, was killed by a falling tree. Odgon Green of New Washington, was killed by lightning. Robert Laporte died of heart trouble when a heavy crash of thunder came. A rural mail carrier of near New London was also struck by lightning and instantly killed. Early reports that several towns were destroyed by a tornado are discredited.

STRIKE THREATENS WESTINGHOUSE CO.

Pittsburgh, Pa., June 5.—The Westinghouse companies, employing nearly 20,000 men, were threatened by a general strike by 2,300 employees who gathered at the gates when they opened this morning. These men composed the night shift. They announced that they would not work until the company met their demands. They comprise about 20 per cent of the strength claimed by the union. Leaders claim 10,000 men will strike by midnight.

Many newspapers have been wondering for some time what is the matter with the Wilson administration. They have been expressing the sentiment of many people. The Washington Star has been canvassing the political situation and it reaches the following conclusions:

Democrats in Congress, pondering over the reports reaching them of alleged disaffection to the party and its works throughout the country, ask one another. "What's the matter with the Administration?"

And in nine cases out of ten the congressional answer places the blame upon the White House and the State Department. They execrate

Congress on the ground that Congress is but registering the will of the Executive branch of the Government.

President Wilson is charged by many of his followers in Congress with bringing trouble upon the party through what they say is his highly developed spirit of self-will. His seeming determination to have his way once he has set out upon a course, they declare, is causing friction. They complain that at times he determines his course without consultation with them and thereafter is impervious to arguments in favor of the slightest modification of it.

They are beginning to blame him now for the Mexican situation. Hardly a Democrat in Congress but will say, "If he had recognized Huerta in the beginning there wouldn't be any Mexican situation." The same sentiment is heard frequently from Democrats and Republicans out of Congress, too.

Democrats admit with chagrin that Huerta has got the best of the United States in every move he has made and in every diplomatic argument. They do not cherish fond hopes that the situation will be much different when it comes to clinches with Carranza. Mediation, it will be recalled, aroused very little enthusiasm when proposed, though it was acknowledged that it could not be refused.

Subsequent disclosures that mediation was prompted by Secretary Bryan did not increase their cheerfulness.

The President's insistence upon canal tolls repeal is resented by many of the very men who will vote for it. The fact is, the opinion is growing that the Administration's policy on this subject is not popular in the country at large.

His determination to force through the antitrust bills at this session, even at the cost of holding Congress here until fall, is the subject of divided comment. Some Democrats hold that to abandon trust legislation now would be to arm Roosevelt. Others fear that the bills will react to the detriment of industry.

The latter view arises from uncertainty in many minds as to the practical effect of the proposed legislation. In point of fact, many Democrats are dubious on this score; it is not plain how deep the new law may strike. Many of them receive letters from constituents saying it will hurt business and hamper development. "To tell the truth, we don't know whether it will or not," many Democrats in Congress say.

The new banking and currency law has not proved out yet, and there is some uncertainty about that, although all are inclined to hope for and to expect the best.

Of course, the discontented Democrats make some allowance for their downcast feelings by the fact that the campaign for renomination and re-election is approaching, and they concede that they are perhaps supersensitive. But they do not conceal from one another the opinion that "Things do not look good," and naturally they cast about for somebody to blame.

OFFICIAL VOTE SHOWS BIG GAIN

Compared with 1912, Primary Election in Pennsylvania Reveals
55,535 More Republicans

DEMOCRATIC LOSS 159,659

Comparison Between Last Election and Registration Last Spring
Shows Greater Gains

Washington, June 5.—The official vote cast at the recent state-wide primary in Pennsylvania is now available, and the politicians are trying to make up their minds as to its significance. Since interest in the state centered in the senatorship the vote cast for that office is taken to represent accurately the sentiment in the state. This vote was as follows:

Republican ..... 328,925
Democratic ..... 199,978
Progressive ..... 48,250

It is possible to compare this vote with the vote cast for President in the state in 1912, or with the registered vote in the state. The Presidential vote in 1912 was as follows:

Roosevelt ..... 444,894
Wilson ..... 359,637
Taft ..... 237,360

The vote in the state as registered last spring was as follows:

Republican ..... 681,485
Democratic ..... 374,617
Progressive ..... 114,611

It is assumed that the voters in the state had their bearings a little better in the recent primary than when the registration took place last spring, so the politicians are inclined to compare the primary vote with the vote of 1912. This comparison shows a slump of 396,644 Progressive votes in the state in eighteen months. It shows a Democratic loss of 159,659 and a Republican gain of 55,535.

Naturally the Republicans are distinctly encouraged by the showing of this primary vote in the second largest state in the Union. Some of the politicians who have undertaken to analyze the figures say it is probable that most of the Democratic loss represents the Republican vote in the state that was cast for Wilson two years ago. The Progressives are making no effort to explain the pitiable showing they made at the primaries, beyond the statement that since there was no contest for United States senator in the Bull Moose party, thousands of Progressives probably did not vote at all.

The politicians here are all wondering why the Progressive party in the state should suffer a loss of 396,644 votes in eighteen months if it had any vitality left.

It is being pointed out that the story told by the official figures in Pennsylvania takes on added importance when considered in connection with tests that have been made in other states. In every election and in every primary held since 1912, the Bull Mooseers have shown a retrograde movement. This fact leads the politicians in the other parties to believe that the process of disintegration is nation-wide. Most observers realize that it is not for the leaders of the Bull Moose party to say whether the party is to survive, but for the voters to determine. The opinion now generally prevails among public men here that the voters will leave the Bull Moose leaders stranded. During the last week or ten days there have been intimations here that some of the Bull Moose leaders foresee what is coming and are preparing to look for a safe retreat.

The Democrats are anxious that the breakup of the new party shall not come prior to the congressional election of this year. They have been counting on the Bull Mooseers helping them to elect the house of representatives once more at least. They make no secret of the fact that they regard every Progressive nomination for the congress as an aid to a Democratic candidate.

That there will be only two major political parties in the national campaign in 1916 is now generally accepted as a fact by men in public life, whether they affiliate with the Republican, the Democratic or the Progressive party. The talk among the Wilson Democrats is that by the time the national campaign comes on the Wilson administration will have been thoroughly tested; the Democratic legislation will have proved a failure or a success, and the masses of the voters will have made up their minds whether they wish to continue the administration four years more. The Democrats admit that they are not ready for a test this year, and because of that they welcome such help as the expiring Bull Moose party can give them. They say they will be ready in 1916 to try their strength with the reorganized Republican party.

Many of the politicians are already expressing interest in the future of some of the men who in 1912 cast their lot with the Bull Moose party. "What do you suppose will become of them?" is a question that always leads to plenty of speculation.

GOOD PROSPECTS FOR FOOTBALL

Purdue Has Makings for Conference Winner Next Season—Number of Veterans Left.

SCHOOL IS COMING BACK

Year Has Been Successful With the Exception of Track and This is Improving.

(By United Press.)

Lafayette, Ind., June 5.—Bright foot ball prospects have driven away the gloom of an unsuccessful base ball season at Purdue university and followers of the former sport predict that the boiler-makers will have a championship team next fall. Spring practice this year under the direction of Coach "Andy" Smith and Assistant Vaughan has done much to bolster up the hopes of the pigskin fans. Many unsuccessful seasons on the gridiron have given the impression that the art of foot ball at the local school was a thing of the past, but Coach Smith in a confident tone today said that Purdue next fall would defeat Chicago and Wisconsin. He does not consider Indiana or Ohio State and says that he thinks that his hardest game will be against Illinois.

Street, a member of the Purdue team of two years ago, and mentioned on the all-western team his first year out, will again be in school next year and will be seen in a back field position instead of at end. Stinchfield and Turner will probably be the Black and Old Gold ends for next year; Blocker and Bishop will play at the tackle position and Finn, Landis and East will place in the back field with O'Brien. All of these men are veterans and are well up on Smith's style of aggressiveness and defense. Among the new material that has shown form is Van Aiken, of Coldwater, Mich., who as a member of the freshman team this year played a wonderful game at full back. Pinkerton, of Chicago and Eldridge of West Lafayette, will also be candidates for back field positions. Smith of Chicago will undoubtedly fill in a line position and there are numerous other members of the present freshman class who will make bids for the varsity eleven.

Track and field work, a branch of sport which has never attracted much attention at the local university, drew large crowds this year on account of the excellent work in this department. Several Purdue records were broken by green men and Coach Mahin says that with another season's training he will be able to cope with Illinois on equal terms. Illinois has always taken the Black and Old Gold athletes into camp easily in this department. Klipple, a sophomore, has done the two mile circuit in 10:00 this year and Stahl has cleared the bar in the high jump at various heights between 5.10 and 6 feet. The one hundred yard dash has been done several times by Purdue men in 10 seconds and the low and high hurdles and mile run as well as the longer dashes have been made in remarkable time. The boiler-makers are weak in field work at the present time but Mahin says he will have some weight men next season that will compare favorably with the best in the conference.

WOMEN FURNISH MOST OF MONEY

Velvet For Mexican Bull Fights on Sunday in Juarez is Put up by "Lady Fans."

BABIES ALSO IN THE CROWD

Sport Takes Place of American Baseball and People Leave as They do in Seventh Inning.

(BY N. C. PARKE.)

(Written for United Press.)

Juarez, Mexico, May 28.—(By Mail to New York)—If the good ladies of Juarez hold ladies' aid society meetings or did the family darning on Sunday afternoon, a choice lot of matadors, picadores, banderillos capederos might be otherwise engaged as bartenders, barbers or cobblers.

It's the feminine fans in Juarez who furnish the "velvet," otherwise known as the profits, at the weekly bull-fights. In no city in Mexico, according to a prominent bull-fight promoter, do women form quite so large a number of the Sunday afternoon crowds that watch the bloody sport as in this border town. And it is only a fifteen-minute ride by street car to El Paso, Tex., where the above mentioned ladies' aid societies and darning circles hold forth on Sunday afternoons.

A third of the crowd that saw five bulls tormented to death, a horse torn to pieces and matador severely gored by a maddened bull on a recent Sunday in the Juarez bull ring, was made up of women. They came very early and stayed very late, because—according to the posters—it was all being done "in honor of the great General Francisco Villa."

The Juarez amphitheatre, like most others, is divided into two sections, "sombra" and "sol," or "Shade and sun." On the sombra side, where the price of a seat was two pesos, sat the elite of Juarez, tourists from El Paso hotels and military officers from the cuartel. There were so many of the military on the sombra side that you get the impression they were "dead-heads." On the sunny side were grouped the peons, the women of the lower classes, and about as many youngsters as were occupying the bleachers at the ball game over in El Paso.

Ranged along the first tiers of seats that swung in a semi-circle closest to the scene of gore, were the señoritas of Juarez, pretty, dark-eyed, slender figures, whose stops earlier in the day had been devoutly directed to the little white mission behind the central plaza. But having said their morning prayers, they were there applauding with little gloved hands the torture of the horses and the spilling of blood in the arena.

Babies were there, too—at least a score of them, sleeping in the arms of tired-looking mothers. When the fight grew tame and the groggy bull dragged himself wearily about the ring, the mothers rocked the infants or fanned away the flies. But if the fight lagged too much, the mothers with the pretty señoritas joined in the cry: "Otro tero." (Bring another bull.)

The second bull had honored the great General Villa by succumbing to the matador after 40 minutes of vicious jabbing, when a young American girl enroute to her home in New York from a winter in California, furnished the crowd with unexpected amusement.

She was sitting in the second tier of seats, quite close to the ring. The third bull dashing into the arena and smarting with pain from the first thrust of steel, made straight for the low fence enclosing the ring and leaped it, his hoofs striking against the concrete base of the first row of seats.

The little American tourist sprang to her feet in terror. Gathering her skirts, she leaped up first one tier and then another. In her excitement she dropped into the lap of a Mexican trooper from the garrison. His Mauser rifle went rattling down the concrete structure and she sprang toward an exit in terror, "Ha-Ha, Don Pedro!" shouted his comrades and the rest of their yells were drowned in volleys of laughter. The señoritas turned an amused but somewhat derisive smile on the whole proceeding. They had not moved when the el tero made his leap.

Evening came on—part of the men departed as American baseball fans do in the seventh inning of a listless baseball game—but the women held their seats. They tapped their heels against the concrete when the band responded to the cry for "musica" and joined in the vivas when a clever banderillo succeeded in thrusting a pair of gaily colored banderillas into a bull's neck. A cool breeze blew in over the hills south of Juarez. It signaled a gorgeous display from the señorita contingent, who began swathing shoulders in mantillas that outdid the rainbow for colors. Higher up the sides of the amphitheatre, the mothers were covering the babies with black mantillas or dark blue robes.

When the bespangled matador had made his final sword thrust and tiny feminine hands had beat the last applause of the evening, the señoritas, walking in pairs, moved slowly off in the direction of the little white mission. The seniors, who had worked themselves into five different fits of frenzy—one for each bull—gathered at the cantina of Jesus Rodriguez, not far from the bull ring, to drink to the health of the matador.

OLD RIVALS MEET FOR SECOND TIME

Great Interest Shown in Coming Game With Connersville and Rushville Hopes to Win.

SLIGHT CHANGE IN LINEUP

Great interest is being shown by the fans in the game Sunday between the Arcadians and Connersville. The largest crowd of the season will no doubt attend and a real game is expected. Connersville fans will come on two special cars and expect their team to repeat at the expense of Rushville. The same lineup will be used as faced Rushville in the first game of the series.

Manager Fisher of the Arcadians has secured Walter Queisser to play center field and O'Dell will be placed in right. Patterson will start the game and he is confident of winning with good support in the field. Harris, who last year played with the Kansas City Feds will play second base and Spellman will be moved over to third. This should hold the infield and with Bridges on first the team should travel. On account of the union lodge memorial services the game will be called at three o'clock.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

get. We need an Auditorium, and we are going to have one. But to secure it, we must have the money; and we want every citizen of Rushville to think it over. The playground and Auditorium are not the only things we need, but they are the most feasible, and the most needed. Here is an opportunity that would make a Carnegie or a Dan Reid turn green with envy. What a memorial to have to the honor of one's name, in so useful a place.

What a prosperous person but owes his prosperity to those about him, though it be gathered honestly, and by the hardest toil? The very rich always share their wealth in such a manner. We need only a modest outlay, and in the case of the Auditorium, not even a gift is needed. It would pay dividends, and the ownership would not pass from the hands of the patrons. The Coliseum in Richmond has never paid less than 8% and often as high as 25% on the investment, even after paying for its construction. With Rushville's central location, and splendid railway facilities, there is no doubt as to the outcome. We can't afford to do without it. But somebody must be ready to invest the few thousands necessary, that will give such returns in pride in our city, as well as in publicity and in money.

be beautified by public spirited citizens, who give of their plenty to provide pleasures for their fellows. What city of any consequence but is famed for the parks or hospitals, or memorial churches, or libraries, or other useful buildings, donated to the public good by residents, or even former residents of those cities? It must be worth while, else the custom of useful giving would have died out long ago. The least those philanthropists can get for their generosity, is the perpetuation of their names, for the pendulum swings back a generation or two, and the wealth that was garnered by the toil of one or two is scattered by the next generation of luxurious lives.

True, Rushville has no millionaires; but then, we need no $100,000 buildings. There isn't room here for even a Y. M. C. A. of that caliber; and besides, a Y. M. C. A. is rarely built as the gift of one man, but by the contributions of hundreds or thousands. Rushville, however, is a city of retired farmers, in prosperous circumstances, and we are all proud of this fact, and invariably boast of it. There are many comfortable fortunes represented in our city, and some that are more than comfortable. And we do need some modest public improvements that would round out the beauty of the city, and at comparatively small outlay would give us the right to boast over our sister cities for generations. We need a public playground, for not a good playground can be found in our municipality where our biggest problem, (our boys, about whom we worry so much) may play ball and offend no one; where supervised play would save an incalculable toll in spoiled lives. We need a library building, though when we decide we want it that will not be so hard to

SLIM GRACEFUL DESIGNS FOR NET OR CREPE.

Among the sheer, crisp materials favored for summer frocks, there is a fine meshed net; some of these nets show a printed border of pink or yellow roses or conventionalized Greek designs. Although extremely diaphanous, this material is far more durable than many other sheer stuffs. It may be made up over a foundation of lily or soft tulle; chiffon is often combined with it most effectively.

For simple afternoon frocks showing a puffed or puff, the Dolly Varden tulle is quite the most fetching things imaginable, with their soft colorings and quaint flower designs. Plain silk crepes, too, are much used, as they are becoming and most practical. The tulle frock shown in Number 8370-8038 is developed in one of these silk crepes; the color is French blue and a crush girdle of black satin offers pleasing relief. The average width of silk crepe is 38 to 40 inches, and it may be purchased from 75 cents a yard and up.

To copy this frock in size 36, the blouse (8370) requires 3½ yards of 36-inch material. The skirt (8038) may be made with 2½ yards of 42-inch goods. Bordered net shows up very attractively in the next frock, 8367, which closes down the back, has an up-standing Medici collar and a V-shaped opening in front; the skirt is a three-piece design gathered at the top. These nets average 42 inches in width and range in price from $1.25 a yard and up. This dress requires for size 36, 3½ yards of 42-inch width.

Department Offers Suggestions On the Incubation of Hen's Eggs

Users of incubators are given the following suggestions in a new free publication of the Department of Agriculture entitled "Natural and Artificial Incubation of Hens' Eggs."

See that the incubator is running steadily at the desired temperature before filling with eggs. Do not add fresh eggs to a tray containing eggs which are undergoing incubation.

Turn the eggs twice daily after the second and until the nineteenth day. Cool the eggs once daily, according to the weather from the seventh to the nineteenth day.

Turn the eggs before caring for the lamps.

Attend to the machine carefully at regular hours.

Keep the lamp and wick clean.

Test the eggs on the seventh and fourteenth days.

Do not open the machine after the eighteenth day until the chickens are hatched.

In setting up and operating an incubator follow the directions of the manufacturer. There are a large number of reliable American-made incubators, but the Department cannot recommend any particular kind. It does advise, however, that poultry raisers select an incubator that has already given satisfaction in the vicinity where it is to be used.

As the cost of the machine is small compared with the eggs it hatches, it is a good investment to get a well-constructed incubator instead of a cheap one, which requires more attention and wears out quicker. The equipment of most incubators is so subject to change that particular lamps, regulations, etc., cannot be recommended. The lamp, however, should have a bowl large enough to hold enough oil to burn 36 hours under average weather conditions, should be easy to remove and replace should set absolutely tight in position, and be at a convenient height.

An incubator holding 60 eggs calls for as much time and care as one holding 360, and for ordinary use, a machine of at least 150 egg capacity seems most satisfactory. On those large farms that use individual-lamp incubators, the machine usually holds from 300 to 400 eggs, and a small machine is sometimes used for a preliminary test, the eggs being transferred to the large incubator after the first or second test. Large machines cost less in proportion to the number of eggs they hold than smaller ones. However, smaller machines are valuable under special conditions, as for preliminary testing.

Chickens are more even in size when they all hatched within a short time of each other than when the incubating period is extended over many weeks. Many poultrymen, therefore, believe that it pays to have an incubator large enough to hatch most of their stock in two, or at most, three hatches. Much time in tending to the incubators and brooders is saved in this way. A fair estimate for a poultry farm is to have the incubator hold as many eggs as there are hens, provided that about one-half of the flock is to be renewed yearly and no outside hatching is carried on.

A well-ventilated room, which is not subject to great variations in temperature, should be selected for the incubator. If built above ground, the wall should be double and the entire building insulated. In sections that have a mild climate, machines may be operated in buildings with single walls, but a well-insulated room is always preferable.

Where only a few small machines are used they are generally run in a room or cellar of the house. Good results in hatching may be secured in cellars as well as in rooms, and these are more commonly used. Many of these cellars are provided with some system of ventilation beside windows, muslin screens on the windows often providing good ventilation without draft, and keeping the sun from shining on the machines. Cement floors are easier to keep clean than dirt floors. Where the equipment is extensive, a special cellar or house should be provided.

In setting up the machine, get it perfectly level. Do not plane off the door if it sticks, until the machine has been heated up and thoroughly dried. Run the machine at about 102° F. for a day before putting in the eggs. Afterwards do not touch the regulator for several hours as it takes this time for the machine to come back to its regular temperature.

The temperature should remain nearly even. When the bulb of the eggs the temperature is usually held at 101½ to 102° F. the first week, 102° to 103° F. the second week, and thermometer rests directly on the 103° F. the last week; while a hanging thermometer is operated at about 102° to 102½ F. the first two weeks, and 103° F. the last week.

The eggs tend to throw off more heat as they develop so that occasionally the regulator needs to be changed slightly, but it should not be changed any more than is absolutely necessary. The temperature of the egg chamber may be lowered by lowering the flame of the lamp in the middle of the day. Regulate the incubator before opening the door to tend to the eggs. Most operators tend to their machines two or three times daily.

The cause of poor hatches is a much discussed question, which depends on a great variety of circumstances. A poor hatch is more apt to be due to the condition of the eggs previous to hatching than to incubation, although improper handling of either factor will produce the same results. When eggs fail to hatch, see whether the breeding stock is kept under conditions which tend to produce strong, fertile germs in the eggs, if the eggs have been handled properly before incubation, and whether the conditions were right during incubation, as judged by the time of the hatch.

A daily temperature record should be kept of each machine. The operator can thus compare the temperature at which the machines have been kept, which may prove valuable in the future work, especially if the brooder records can be checked back against those of the incubator.

Every poultry raiser who contemplates setting up an incubator is advised to write for the new bulletin, to the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C. Among other details it has paragraphs on moisture and ventilation, testing eggs, and disinfecting and storing incubators.

MARIAN COLE FISHER

A National Authority on the Subject of PURE FOODS and the ART OF COOKING.

In a recent interview on baking powder stated as follows:
"I find many, in fact, very many, women woefully uninformed on the subject of baking powder. Evidently the housewife does not appreciate the value of baking powder in her kitchen and in her baking, or she would have informed herself. This is a subject that is quite important."
"A great many of the housewives today have followed their mothers or grandmothers in the use of baking powder, which in some instances is a mistake. There has been just as much improvement in baking powder as in other commodities. I am glad to find that baking powder has kept up with the times."
Some housewives have been led to believe that the cream of tartar powders are the best goods to use. This is a mistake, resulting no doubt from the constant efforts of the Twenty Million Dollar Baking Powder Trust to create a prejudice against all goods save their own. Their goods should be least desirable on account of the large quantities of Rochelle Salts remaining in the food.
The other extreme is the cheap and "Big Can" baking powders, which sell all the way from ten cents a pound to a cent an ounce. These are even less desirable than the high-priced goods. I can say nothing in their favor. They are never economical; frequently leaving the baking bleached and acid; sometimes yellow and alkaline, and often unpalatable. They are not dependable and represent false economy at any price.
The most simple way for the housewife to class baking powder is by price. The trust goods that retail for 40c or 50c a pound are usually the cream of tartar powders, and are of the old school; and the cheap and "Big Can" kind that sell all the way from 10c a pound up to a cent an ounce should also be avoided.
The last word in baking powder is the happy medium, a combination powder that sells at a moderate price and when properly prepared gives the consumer full value for the money. The result in baking is pure, wholesome food, without any harmful residue. There is no reason why any housewife should pay 45c or 50c per pound. The best baking powder made can be manufactured so as to retail at about 1½ this price.
On being asked what baking powder she used in her work, Marian Cole Fisher frankly stated that for more than seven years she had used Calumet Baking Powder with the most satisfactory results in every particular.

UNIVERSITY IS AGAINST GIRL

Mable Rodgers, Plaintiff in Suit
Against Hazers, is Snubbed by
Almost Everyone in Purdue

IS AGAINST SEVEN CO-EDS

Authorities will Make Effort to Keep
Case from Coming to Trial as it
Will Attract Attention

(By United Press.)

Lafayette, Ind., June 5.—Pretty Mabel Rodgers, of Shoals, Ind., plaintiff in the sensational $7,000 damage suit against seven of her sister co-eds at Purdue university for alleged hazing, is still in school. Because of a time worn custom of all students of the school never to let the facts of a hazing case reach the school authorities or the outside, the little freshman is playing her game alone, roaming by herself, studying alone and enjoying what little amusements she can afford in a solitary manner. Girl members of the school pass her by with turned heads and the young men of the institution stare at her in amazement for her audacity in breaking one of the oldest customs of the school.

Probably never before in the history of the state institution has a student shown more fortitude than the frail girl. She bravely meets the snubs and sneers of her fellow students and does her class work along side of them in school as though they were on the best of terms. She has ceased trying to make friends among the girls, finding it of no avail. She is working hard in an effort to pass her first year in the institution successfully and present indications are that she will go through with colors flying.

This incident recalls another in Purdue's history. John Males, a freshman, donned the corduroys of the seniors and wore them on the street. He was notified to take them off and when he refused the trousers were stolen by his room-mate. Males filed a charge of petit larceny against his room-mate who was exonerated. Males could not stand the manner in which he was treated in the school and left the institution two weeks after the trial.

Mabel Rodgers alleged in her complaint filed in the superior court here that she was hazed by seven senior girls of the institution on a night in January and that her health was permanently injured. She alleges that she was studying when the girls entered her room, dragged her out, stripped, her clothing and painted her chest, back, neck and face with red ink. She says they also poured a bottle of murex down her back and stuck her with pins to compel her to kneel before them. Their last act, she alleges, was to throw her into a tub of cold water. At the time she was ill and told her assailants this, she alleges, but they paid no attention to her statement. She was unconscious and hysterical after the attack and was compelled to take treatment at a local hospital.

The defendants are Mary Clark, of Indianapolis, Ruth Cowan of Chicago; Mary Sheridan, of Attica, Ester Kiser, of Terre Haute, Agnes Phillips, of Muncieville, May Blue, of Star City, and Helen Lee, of Oxford. The attorneys for the plaintiff are Frank Kimmell, of this city and H. McCormick, of Shoals. Miss Rodgers is a resident of Shoals, and is an orphan. She is working her way through the local institution. It is rumored that she and Attorney McCormick are engaged to be married.

Authorities of the university will do everything in their power to keep the case from coming to trial, as in their judgment it will bring much undesirable attention to the school. The fact that none of the girl defendants have employed attorneys seems to substantiate the rumor that the case will be compromised. Attorneys for the plaintiff when interviewed on the matter said that they had not been approached with a compromise but said that they would consider the settlement of the case outside the courts. Unless this action is taken by the defendants the attorneys will push the case which will be tried here next fall.

AN OLD RECIPE TO DARKEN HAIR

Common garden Sage and Sulphur makes streaked, faded or gray hair dark and glossy at once.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray; also ends dandruff, itching scalp and stops falling hair. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome. Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy." You will get a large bottle for about 50 cents. Everybody uses this old, famous recipe, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy and you look years younger.

A $15.00 Hirschman "Kingston Special" Mattress for $11.40

Absolutely Sanitary

A good Hirschman Mattress will give you a lifetime of comfort and satisfaction. Many mattresses are filled with unclean, unsanitary disease-breeding materials. The Hirschman "Kingston Special" contains nothing but pure, clean, sanitary cotton felt, from which every atom of vegetable oil or germs have been eliminated by the Hirschman process.

We Warrant Them

This mattress is absolutely germ-proof and non-absorbent. If the ticking becomes soiled you can scrub it with a brush and soap and water.

Before shipping to us each mattress was first wrapped in heavy paper and then sewed up in burlap. The usual custom is to throw the mattresses in a car loose. Every mattress is therefore clean, fresh and new and in perfect condition.

Honest All Through

The Hirschman "Kingston Special" Mattress is an honest mattress. It is made of clean, elastic, long fibre cotton, built up in layers by expert workmen. It will not pack, no matter how long it is used. It is five pounds heavier than the ordinary mattress, giving extra thickness and an added touch of luxury. Every mattress guaranteed perfect and warranted pure cotton felt.
